LMC is an independent economic consultancy comprising two companies:

LMC INTERNATIONAL serves the global agribusiness sector and its downstream food, fuel and chemical industries. LMCI delivers industry and policy analysis, as well as supply, demand, price and trade flow forecasts.

LMC AUTOMOTIVE provides market intelligence to vehicle and component manufacturers as well as financial, logistical and government institutions.

LMC clients include BMW, PepsiCo, Ford, EU Commission, P&G, Volkswagen, Kraft, Tate & Lyle, United Nations, WWF, HSBC and BP.

Whilst many employees enjoy long, fulfilling careers at LMC, former employees now hold prominent positions with the World Bank, IMF, Volvo, Mercedes-Benz, Bosch, Oxford University, the UK Treasury, Credit Suisse and Unilever.

If you were working at LMC, last week you might have...

- Joined LMC webinars with industry leaders in the food and energy sectors
- Discussed research strategy with colleagues in New York, Bangkok and Munich
- Presented your project on Brazilian sugar demand to clients in Thailand
- Interpreted market data to assess the direction of crude oil prices
- Interviewed Coca Cola's Purchasing Manager about their sustainability strategy
- Discussed your project analysis with an LMC Director

Careers in Economic & Business Consultancy

Develop your analytical skills and business insight at LMC

What you will gain during an LMC Internship/Placement

Furthering your career prospects at LMC will challenge you intellectually while rewarding you with the opportunity to shape industry decisions and government policies. You will be involved in real, ongoing projects with renowned companies and institutions. LMC experts are globally respected and you will support their expertise by delivering supervised analysis while developing your own knowledge base.

What you will bring to the role

We want intellectual curiosity mixed with analytical rigour. You will be working towards a doctorate in economics or other numerate subject and have experience of data analysis and report writing. Communication skills and the ability to be both a self-starter and team player will be essential!

In your LMC role you will

- Carry out analysis and forecasts for supply, demand and price economics
- Create reports, datasets and slide decks for bespoke consulting projects
- Apply your analytical skills to address client queries and requests
- Interact regularly with LMC directors, experts and industry contacts globally
